WOMAN'S CLUB 37 ANNIVERSARY

MEMBERS CELEBRATED OCCASION WITH A RECEPTION AT THE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. S. A. HAYS, ON EAST ANDERSON STREET TUESDAY NIGHT

SPLENDID PROGRAM GIVEN

The Woman's Club of Greencastle, the oldest of organizations of this character in the state of Indiana, celebrated its 37th anniversary, on Tuesday evening, with a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hays, Anderson and Bloomington streets. The floral decorations were beautiful and added charm to the pleasing program arranged for the occasion, and the seventy-five or more guests present, were most delightfully entertained.

Miss Aldah McCoy gave a piano solo, Miss Iva Smith sang sweetly and artistically and Miss Martha Ridpath read an original poem of local interest. Mrs. Frank Donner delighted those present with a number of her artistic readings and Miss Flora Mathias pleased with a pianoforte solo. Mrs. Jesse Weik was to have read an original story but because of her illness was unable to finish her work.

Refreshments, consisting of salad, and coffee followed that portion of the program and then short talks, some poetic and all pleasing, on subjects germane to the occasion, were given by Mesdames John R. Miller, John G. Dunbar, Ansel D. Mills and Miss Josephine Donnohue and Dr. Kirk Waldo Robbins. Later, ice cream and cake were served.

The anniversary of the Woman's Club of Greencastle, is dated most delightfully on St. Valentine's day, and in harmony with the day, the favors were heart shaped, with ribbon insertions, and were hand-painted from the art studies of Miss Pearl O'Hair.

JUSTIN A WILSON DEAD.

Well Known Citizen Victim of Pneumonia at Home Near Odell.

Justin A. Wilson, one of the best known men in Tippecanoe county, died at 6 o'clock Monday morning at his home north of Newtown, near Odell. A week ago last Friday Mr. Wilson and his family returned from California, where they had been on a pleasure trip since last September. Mr. Wilson was not feeling well when he reached home and a week ago Sunday he was stricken with pneumonia. His condition became critical Saturday and he gradually grew weaker until the end came. The announcement of his death was a great shock to his many friends. Mr. Wilson was the son of Alfred Wilson and was born December 12, 1854, at Newtown, Ind. He was graduated from DePauw University in 1882 and after leaving college spent one year as a missionary at Calcutta, India. When he returned to this country he entered the office of his uncle, Joseph Wilson, architect at Newtown, and in a few years became proficient as an architect. Mr. Wilson was married to Miss Emily A. Borum April 8, 1886, who survives with three daughters, the Misses Grace, Justine and Josephine Wilson. Mr. Wilson owned a farm near Odell but did not live on it. He was a man of great ability, was progressive and was a representative citizen of the county. Genial in his manner he made friends and he had the faculty of retaining them. He was a man of high principles, always considerate of the rights of others and no one ever questioned his integrity. He was the soul of honor and was greatly devoted to his home and family. Mr. Wilson was a member of the Methodist Church at Shawnee Mound. He also held a membership in the Masonic lodge at Odell, the K. of P. lodge at Odell, the Lafayette lodge of Maccabees and the Phi Delta Theta fraternity at DePauw university.

MEETING CLOSES WITH CONTEST

SEVERAL KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS SPEAK FOR PRIZES IN BEST RENDERED RITUALISTIC WORK OF THE LODGE.

TERRE HAUTE MAN WINS

The evening session of the Knights of Pythias meeting was carried out almost the same as published in last night's edition of the Herald. There was a crowd of more than 400 Knights, attended the evening meeting. The only exception from the program as before published was a prize exemplification contest. This contest pertained to the ritualistic work of the lodge.

The entries to this contest with their respective subjects are: T. J. Steine, Lodge 374, of Terre Haute, "Monotone;" J. C. Carter, No. 8 Oriental Lodge, Terre Haute, "Monotone;" S. J. Wilton, No. 145, Carbon lodge, "Pythagoras;" M. Boaz, No. 18 Oriental Lodge, Terre Haute, "The Eight Senator;" W. P. Sackett, No. 349, Cloverdale Lodge, "Sixth Senator;" and Harry Call, No. 217, Clinton Lodge, "Fifth Senator."

The prizes in the above mentioned contest were won by T. J. Steine and J. C. Carter. Mr. Steine won the first prize, which was $10 in gold and Mr. Carter, second, $5 in gold. The judges in the contest were: Dr. F. A. Williams, of Quincy; A. G. Athens, of Summitville, and W. H. May, of Quincy, Ill.

W. M. Sutherland was in Roachdale Tuesday afternoon on business.

Greencastle people will enjoy a rare treat when, for three days, beginning with this evening, they will have an opportunity of seeing the famous Buffalo Bill Wild West and Pawnee Bill Far East at the Opera House Moving Picture show. This, of course, does not mean that the original Buffalo Bill show will be shown in the theatre, because it is too large an attraction to be staged indoors, but it does mean moving pictures, which reproduce the great show exactly as it was seen in Madison Square Garden and throughout the whole United States last season will be shown. The Buffalo Bill show is the most distinctive American attraction, reproducing as it does the scenes on the frontier of America exactly as they were a third of a century ago. For more than twenty-five years Buffalo Bill and his company have been the idol of the people not only of America, but of continental Europe as well.

Guy Britton, of Roachdale, entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Sunday. His guests were Misses Anna Carman, Hazel Shackelford, Bertha Hovermale and Ada Overstreet, of Ladoga; and Messrs. Carman, of Ladoga; Airhart, of Roachdale; Churm and Walker, of Greencastle, fraternity brothers of Mr. Britton.—Crawfordsville Review

NOTHING DOING AT THE COUNCIL

MAYOR MILLER AND THREE COUNCILMEN STAGE A COMEDY OF ONE ACT IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER ON TUESDAY.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

Time: 7:26 o'clock Tuesday evening.
Place: Council chamber.
Cast of Characters.
John R. Miller, Mayor; John Cook, John Dodd and Charley Leunteke, councilmen.
"Simmy" Sayers—Clerk.
Alec Lane—City Engineer.
Lem Johns—Marshal.

Audience.
P. R. Christie, E. Shipley, Charley Wagoner, F. A. Hays, Alfred Hirt, John Dunlavy, J. F. Hill, C. V. Newman and Billy Thompson.

Act I.—Mayor (wearing his Sunday clothes, seems very nervous). "Gentlemen, I fear we will not have a quorum this evening as three aldermen and the city attorney are absent."

To the Marshal—"Lem, call and see if you can get Councilmen Naylor and Jones over the phone." (Marshal leaves but soon returns). Marshal Johns: "The gentlemen do not answer your honor."

(The mayor then whispers to Councilman Dodd.) Mr. Dodd: "I move that the council adjourn to meet in regular session on Monday night."

By unanimous vote the motion is carried.
His honor: (Addressing the chorus) "Gentlemen, if any of you have remonstrances against the improvement of the square, you may present them at the council meeting Monday night."

Finis.

Tuesday night was the regular meeting night of the city council. However, there was no "real" meeting as only three members of the council showed up and as it takes four to transact any business there was "nothing doing."

Tuesday night was the time for remonstrances against the ordinance for the improvement of the square and from appearances several were there to remonstrate. But, alas, they had no opportunity to carry out their intentions. The regular meeting work will be done at the special meeting to be held Monday evening.

Following is the claim ordinance which might have been passed had the council meeting been a success, for a council meeting without a claim ordinance is not a council meeting at all:

DEPAUW LOSES TO I. U.

With three of her regulars absent, DePauw lost a miserable basketball game to Indiana at Bloomington last night by a score of 41 to 9.

Indiana's victory was never in doubt. The DePauw team keenly felt the absence of "Banty" Dale, the stellar diminutive forward. Pierson was also out of the game. Coach Tapp had a difficult task yesterday when he started out to find basketball players who had not received a "hunk" or "con." He mustered together a team and descended by way of Monon to the downstate school, where the above mentioned avalanche occurred.

THE SENATORIAL DISTRICT PLAN

PUTNAM, CLAY, PARKE AND SULLIVAN COUNTIES TO CONSTITUTE ONE SENATORIAL DISTRICT, ELECTING ONE SENATOR—CLAY AND SULLIVAN TO HAVE ANOTHER.

A JOINT REPRESENTATIVE

The latest plan of the state legislature in its senatorial district apportionment is reported to have been perfected. Under the new apportionment plan, Putnam, Clay, Parke and Sullivan counties will constitute a senatorial district and will have one joint senator. Clay and Sullivan will together have another joint senator.

It is reported that under the new plan there will be twenty-five senatorial districts and the state will be so arranged that at least eighteen of these districts will be normally democratic. Four will be Republican and the other three will be close.

It is said that Putnam probably will give a representative, although its population does not quite come up to the requirements. In case Putnam does not get a representative it probably will be joined with Montgomery county in a joint Representative district.

Emma F. Collins was granted a divorce Wednesday by Judge Rawley and also was given the custody of her child. She alleged abandonment. Russell Collins, her husband, failed to appear to defend the case.

ARM IS BROKEN BY AUTOMOBILE

DR. W. M. MCGAUGHEY IS SERIOUSLY INJURED WHILE "CRANKING" HIS MACHINE AT NEAR 6 O'CLOCK TUESDAY EVENING.

THE ENGINE "BACK FIRED"

While cranking his automobile in front of the Model Clothing store at near 6 o'clock Tuesday night, Dr. W. M. McGaughey suffered a serious accident in which his right wrist was broken. As the physician attempted to crank his machine the engine "back fired," the cranking arm flying back and striking his right wrist.

The force of the blow caused a compound fracture of the bones of the wrist. Dr. McGaughey immediately walked through the alley to the office of Dr. W. M. Tucker. Unable to open the door he kicked on it until he attracted Dr. Tucker's attention and was taken into the operating room.

Dr. C. T. Zaring and Dr. W. R. Hutchison were called and the three physicians set the broken bones. The injury was a most painful, one of the small bones of the wrist having been driven through the flesh by the force of the blow.

NOT MUCH CHANCE FOR COURT BILL

PROBABLE THAT JUDICIAL DISTRICTS WILL NOT BE CHANGED BY THIS SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

THE TIME IS TOO LIMITED

Reports from the members of the state legislature regarding the court bill, which probably will be introduced by Representative Corr some time this week, is that the bill probably will not be passed. The bill as prepared would give Clay, Putnam and Morgan counties separate circuits and would join other counties in joint circuits in such a way as not to necessitate the appointment of any additional judges.

The members of the legislature say that there is so many bills before the legislature at the present time that must be attended to before adjournment, that there is little chance for the passage of any bills which will be introduced from this time on. Had the bill been agreed upon earlier in the session there might have been a chance for its passage.

Ed Bicknell went to Indianapolis this morning on business.

ELKS TO HAVE BIG MINSTREL

COMMITTEE APPOINTED AT MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT TO ARRANGE FOR "SONG SHOW"—DATE TO BE ANNOUNCED LATER.

AN ABUNDANCE OF TALENT

The Greencastle Lodge of Elks will have a big minstrel show in the near future. This was decided Tuesday night at a meeting of the lodge and James Matson, Reese Matson, C. C. Gillen, Frank Cannon, James Cannon, Harry Moore, E. B. Taylor, Henry Werneke and Sam Raredon were appointed to arrange for the affair. The date and arrangements of the minstrel will be announced later.

As there is an abundance of "Minstrel Talent" in the Elks lodge the committee should have no trouble in arranging a "gigantic" attraction.

COURT ACTION OF WEDNESDAY

Following are the cases disposed of during the session of the circuit court Wednesday:
Jesse G. Plunkett vs. Abner F. Fields, administrator estate of Abraham Beckleheimer—claim—trial by court and finding of judgment of $250 for plaintiff.

Lawrence H. Athey, administrator estate of Marinda M. Smith, deceased, Charles F. Smith, et al—petition to sell real estate—sale ordered.

Miss Pearl and Miss Mabel O'Hair most delightfully entertained about twenty-four friends Tuesday afternoon at their home on east Seminary street at a Valentine party. During the latter part of the afternoon refreshments of marshmallows, pudding, cake, nuts and coffee were served. The affair being given on Valentine Day, the Valentine idea was carried out through the refreshments. Hand decorated Valentines were given as favors.

SIMS CASE GOES TO CLAY COUNTY

JUDGE RAWLEY HEARS ARGUMENTS ON MOTION FOR CHANGE OF VENUE IN CASE OF BRAZIL MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER OF OTIS HENDREN.

HUGHES TO ASSIST STATE

After hearing the arguments by the attorneys on the motion of Casey Sims, asking a change of venue in his trial for the murder of Otis Hendren, from this county, Judge Rawley, Wednesday morning, sent the case to Clay county for trial.

The Judge stated that it had always been customary to keep such cases in the judicial district in which it was filed and because of this fact and the fact that the railroad facilities are better for the accommodation of the witnesses and attorneys between Brazil and Greencastle than any other adjoining county seat towns, he believed that the trial should be held in Clay county.

James P. Hughes, ex-prosecutor, was appointed by the Judge to assist in the prosecution of the case, he being more familiar with the case than any other attorney. Prosecutor Lee and his deputy, William Sutherland, only recently took office.

Casey Sims was in the court room at the time the judge gave his decision. He was seated with his mother and brother and seemed greatly pleased that the judge sent the case to Clay county.

ASSIGNMENT BY JOHN SUTHERLIN

FORMER GREENCASTLE MERCHANT, WHO NOW IS LIVING IN INDIANAPOLIS, FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY—IN THAT CITY ON TUESDAY.

JOHN A. KELLER, TRUSTEE

John W. Sutherland, formerly a Greencastle merchant, but now living in Indianapolis, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. The assignment was made in Indianapolis on Tuesday and John A. Keller of Greencastle is named as trustee of all personal property and accounts.

A number of the members of the Amico Lodge of Odd Fellows of Terre Haute will come to Greencastle next Tuesday evening to confer the second degree on several of the members of the Putnam county lodge.

The council met and adjourned—that's all.

Who said Greencastle's business men were going to vote "Wet?"

Those business men who are "Going to Vote Wet" are certainly keeping quiet about it.

Greencastle should be proud of the enterprise of its Knights of Pythias. They certainly did themselves proud in the way they looked after the entertainment of their 500 guests on Tuesday.

When the votes are counted the Terre Haute Brewing Co., which recently refused to rent a building it owns alongside the Vandalla railroad, because "it expected to use it within a few weeks," probably will be in the market for a "For Rent" sign.

The visiting Knights, who bravely marched around the square on Tuesday afternoon are to be congratulated for their valor. That none was badly injured by falling into one of the holes in the pavement is a miracle. Leave it to them and there will be an unanimous vote for the improvement of the square.

Tortured for 15 Years.
by a cure-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors, and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." "Whatever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. It's surely a grand remedy for stomach trouble." Just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at the Owl Drug store.

BALDHEAD CLUB.
One is Being Organized in a Western City.

Perhaps this report is a joke, but one thing is certain a baldhead is no joke to the man who wears it. A club of baldheads formed in every city in America would be a good thing if the members could be induced to parade hatless, through the main streets of the city.

The writer would suggest that some of the members carry banners with inscriptions of such a character, as to warn those who still have hair, that baldness is unnecessary; that in nearly every case it is the result of carelessness.

Banners inscribed as follows would be appropriate:
"We let the dandruff germ do it."
"The time to save the hair is when you have hair to save."

"When we were young, the dandruff germs worked every blessed minute. They dug our hair out by the roots, and now we aren't in it."

The best banner of all would be this, "We didn't use Parisian Sage."

The Owl Drug Store sells Parisian Sage for 50 cents a large bottle, so do live druggists everywhere. It is guaranteed to stop falling hair, itching scalp and to destroy dandruff germs and remove dandruff in two weeks or money back.

COOK ADMITS HE FAKED HIS STORY

EXPLORER SAYS HE WAS HALF CRAZED BY EXPERIENCES IN FROZEN NORTH.

WANTS SYMPATHY

Writes His Story for Magazine and Tells Everything Fully and Freely.

New York, N. Y.—Dr. Cook has confessed. The announcement has been made by Edward F. Hampton who paid $50,000 for Commander Peary's story of his trip to the North Pole.

In "his own story" the first installment to be published in the magazine, Dr. Cook frankly admits that he does not know whether he reached the North Pole.

In the opening article, dealing particularly with the psychology of his adventure, the man who has been almost lauded as the greatest explorer and denominated as the most colossal faker of the age, declares: "Did I get to the North Pole? Perhaps I made a mistake in thinking I did. Perhaps I did not make a mistake. After mature thought I confess that I do not know absolutely whether I reached the pole."

"This may come as an amazing statement, but I am willing to startle the world, if, by so doing, I can get an opportunity to present my case."

"By my case I mean not my case as a geographical discoverer, but my case as a man. Much as the attainment of the North Pole once meant to me, the sympathy and confidence of my fellow men mean more."

"Fully, freely and frankly I shall tell everything—and leave the decision with you. If, after reading my story you say, 'Cook is sincere and honest; half crazed by months of isolation and hunger he believed that he reached the pole; he is not a 'faker'—then I shall be satisfied."

Dr. Cook tells his life story and pictures the overpowering ambition for exploration that beset him until finally it culminated in his effort to reach the pole.

He declares that at the time he convinced himself that he had discovered the pole, he was half mad. He spent two and one-half years in his quest and during that period endured hunger and privation that, he says, would unbalance any mind.

Cook declares that it would be impossible for any man to demonstrate that he had been to the pole. He characterizes the far north as a region of insanity, "where one cannot believe the evidences gathered by one's own eye."

He says that he had always looked upon the discovery of the pole as an achievement for his own personal satisfaction—for the satisfaction of a craving and desire that was greater than any other factor in his life.

When he found how tremendous a sensation his statement that he had attained the pole created he was overcome with bewilderment.

His study of his own psychology is described by those who have read his narrative as a "wonderful piece of descriptive writing."

One of the most remarkable facts brought out by his story is that it all the time he has been away, with the slowest newspapermen in the world on his trail, with newspapers offering sums that range into the thousands for the slightest definite news of his whereabouts, he has never worn a disguise and has never taken any unusual precautions to conceal his identity.

Part of the time his wife has been with him, and part of his children too. The children are now in a resort in France, and Dr. Cook and his wife are in Europe.

Most of the time during his exile he has been in London. He has gone among Americans there with the utmost freedom and at times under his own name. Only a few guessed his identity.

With the opportunity for thought that his exile has given him—he says he never even had time to sleep more than three or four hours a night between his arrival in Copenhagen and his disappearance from New York—he has found growing stronger and stronger the desire to return to his own country to be understood by his countrymen. He realized better than any one else the esteem in which he was held.

"I have been called the greatest liar in the world, the most monumental impostor in history," he says in starting his story. "I believe that in a very undesirable way I stand unique, the object of such vituperation and suspicion as have assailed few men."

It was this realization that set Dr. Cook to work on his story. He has said since beginning the preparation of his narrative that to him the honor of discovering the North Pole no longer means anything.

His sole desire is to make the people of the United States realize just what he went through during his two and one-half years in the Arctic fastnesses, and to make them see what process of thinking or lack of thinking it was that led him to do the thing which confirmed to the average mind the worst suspicions against him.

Dr. Cook has been working on his story since August and has revised it so that every point is said to be clear.

PAY OF EUROPEAN STATESMEN.

Denmark Is Stingiest of All Countries to Her Legislators.

The Norwegian member of Parliament gets only thirteen shillings a day, and if the hard worked legislator takes a day off he loses his pay. The same is the case with members of the Swiss Diet: They are rewarded with sixteen shillings a day, on condition that they do not absent themselves from work.

To go further East, we find that Rumania thinks her lawmakers worth a £1 a day. Sixteen shillings a day is the salary of those who compose the Bulgarian Sobranje, but members who live in the capital get only twelve shillings daily.

Denmark is about the stingiest of all European countries, so far as remunerating her lawmakers is concerned. Danish members of Parliament get but six shillings eight pence a day; but, on the other hand, they have the odd privilege of a free seat in the royal theater in Copenhagen.

While the members of the German Reichstag are not salaried, yet the lawmakers of the various German States do not work for nothing. Sax-Coburg members of Parliament are paid thirteen shillings, of Bavaria ten and of Hesse nine.

At first sight Hungary seems to do her lawmakers on the cheap plan, for her members get £200 a year in cash. But they are not so badly off, after all, for a liberal allowance is made into the bargain for house rent. Austria-Hungary's two legislative assemblies cost the country about £160,000 a year in all. Both in Austria and Hungary legislators can travel first class with second class tickets.

Besides the United Kingdom, Italy and Spain are the only countries which pay nothing to their members of Parliament. Nevertheless, the cost of the Italian Parliament is estimated at $25,000 a year.

In Portugal also the State does not remunerate legislators, but they receive free railway passes, and their constituencies are legally permitted to pay those who represent them a sum of about fifteen shillings for each day of the session.

Silk From Gun cotton.

Science threatens to put the silkworm out of business. French chemists have discovered at least three distinct methods of competing with the old reliable but extremely delicate silkworm.

Perhaps the most interesting of these is the manufacture of silk from gun cotton, which also serves as a base for the most powerful of modern explosives.

The viscous fluid from which the silkworm spins his thread is chemically duplicated by a process described in the Technical World. The fabric thus produced is inflammable, and in order to remedy this defect it is treated with an alkali sulphide solution.

The founders of the new industry have kept in view not so much the exact reproduction of natural silk as the production of a substance which embraces its valuable properties.

Natural silk possesses to a large degree qualities of brilliancy, elasticity, strength, affinity for coloring and bleaching materials, and when handled a peculiar rustling sound, known as seroop. Perhaps the brilliancy and seroop of silk are the best known of its qualities, and it is in these two respects that artificial silk most closely resembles natural silk, its brilliancy being greater and its seroop slightly less.

Weight of the Sexes at Varying Ages.
If all the men and women, boys and girls, and infants—black, white, yellow, brown, or red—in all parts of the world, could be weighed on the same scales, the average weight would be nearly one hundred pounds and a half.

Six-pound infants and three-hundred-pound giants contribute to the average.

Upon the average, boys at birth weigh a little more and girls a little less than seven pounds. For the first twelve years the two sexes continue nearly equal in weight, but beyond that age the boys acquire a decided preponderance. Young men of twenty average 135 pounds, while the young women of twenty average 110 pounds each.

Men reach their heaviest weight at about forty years of age, when their average weight will be about 140 pounds; but women slowly increase in weight until fifty years of age, when their average weight will be 120 pounds. Taking the men and women together, their weight at full growth will then average from 108 to 150 pounds; and women from 80 to 130 pounds.

As weight increases, the normal human pulse becomes slower, and then, as weight grows less, in old age, the pulse becomes faster again.

Cosmopolitan New York.

"Speaking of living in a foreign city where one is disturbed by a lack of knowledge of the language," remarked the New York woman, "the man who does my collars and cuffs is a Chinaman; I don't pretend to talk with him; the waiter at the Italian restaurant which it pleases me to frequent is a Frenchman; the man on the corner who sells me my Mexican oranges is Italian; the owner of the small grocery where they have the best coffee is German; the laundress who washes my lingerie is a negress with a soft and musical but occasionally almost incomprehensible dialect, and the porter who comes to clean up my studio is Dutch. I don't try to talk with him. I merely point to the windows or rugs and then to my pocketbook."

RAG RUGS POPULAR FOR THE BEDROOM

They May Be Washed If Fast Colors Are Used.

THE simple rag rug for the bedroom is becoming more and more popular. Those of today who are interested in the work consider carefully the artistic effect in color and weave and if the rugs are to be washed it is well to use fast colors.

Instead of using the discarded clothing, old sheets, etc., which constituted the "hit-or-miss" rag carpet used generations ago, we buy new materials, ginghams, ticking, denim, cotton flannels, etc.

In preparing materials for the weaving care should be taken. The trips may be cut straight or on the bias and they should be nearly an inch wide. These must be sewed together very smoothly and firmly, and a better looking rug will be the result of keeping the different colors in separate balls.

Figured Materials Give Good Effect.

Striped or figured materials give good results, with borders of a plain color, while quite as effective rugs are made with the plain center and figured border. It is well to remember that it takes about one and one-half pounds of cotton rags for one square yard of weaving, and that when the rags are furnished the weaver his charge is from 50 to 60 cents a square yard, which includes the warp and the labor.

These rugs are indispensable in the colonial bedroom, and as they can easily be made to match the color scheme of the room, they are really the most tasteful and appropriate floor covering that can be chosen.

Stewed Red Cabbage.

Needed: One red cabbage, a small slice of ham, one-half ounce of fresh butter, one pint of weak stock or broth, one gill of vinegar, salt and pepper to taste, one tablespoonful of pounded sugar. Cut the cabbage into very thin slices, put it into a stewpan, with the ham cut in dice, the butter, half a pint of stock, and the vinegar; cover the pan closely, and let it stew for one hour. When it is very tender, add the remainder of the stock, a seasoning of salt and pepper, and the pounded sugar; mix all well together, stir over the fire until nearly all the liquor has dried away, and serve. Fried sausages are usually sent to the table with this dish; they should be laid around and on the cabbage, as a garnish.

Creamed Spinach.

Needed: Two handfuls of spinach, two tablespoonfuls of salt, two ounces of butter, eight tablespoonfuls of cream, one small teaspoonful of pounded sugar, a very little grated nutmeg. Boil and drain the spinach, chop it finely, and put it into a stewpan with the butter; stir over a gentle fire, and when the butter has dried away, add the remaining ingredients, and simmer for about five minutes. Boil the cream before adding, or it may curdle. Serve on a hot dish, and garnish either with sippets of toasted bread or leaves of puff paste.

Raisin Cake.

Beat together one cupful of butter, with two of sugar, and a cupful of molasses, three well beaten eggs, one cupful of buttermilk, one of stoned raisins, five of flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of soda, two of cinnamon, two of cloves, one grated nutmeg; stir well together and bake same as fruit cake.

Claret Punch.

Needed: One quart of good claret, one pint of sherry, table sort, one-half dozen lemons, 10 oranges, one fresh pineapple or a quart can of the fruit, one-half pint of whisky and the same of champagne. Mix thoroughly. This may be served frozen, but the wines and spirits are best put in after the chilling.

Cranberry Apples.

Select large, perfect, sweet apples, cut out the cores, fill the cavities with thick cranberry jelly, set the apples in a pan of water in the oven, and bake until done. Place each apple in a small sauce dish and serve with whipped cream.

Cocoanut Macaroons.

Six eggs beaten stiff, one pound sugar, one pound grated cocoanut; beat well together; flour your hands and make into little cakes, grate sugar over them, bake quick.

QUALITY IN MILK.

Food Material Must Be Considered, and Clean Conditions of Production Insisted Upon.

Dr. George M. Whitaker said at the pure food congress in New York city. Much popular ignorance exists as to the meaning of the word "quality" in connection with milk. If the cream line in the glass bottle is sufficiently low, the housewife assumes that she has received milk of "good quality." The cream is an indication of the amount of good material in the milk and within certain limitations an opinion based on the cream line is accurate. The more food there is in a quart of milk the better it is, other things being equal. But if there is a large amount of dirt in the bottle at the bottom of the milk, such milk is of bad quality in spite of its satisfactory amount of food material. Milk to be of "good quality" should not only be satisfactory in composition, but it should be produced under such clean conditions as to have no visible dirt. The consumer should occasionally raise carefully the bottle of milk and look up at the bottom to see if there is any sediment. Soluble dirt and three different types of bacteria may also get into the milk and make it of poor quality. The first are bacteria which are intimately associated with the visible dirt. They are washed off from that into the milk, or fall into the milk with the dirt in the air, and may increase rapidly if the milk is not kept cold. These forms of bacteria are in many instances dangerous to persons with weak digestions, especially babies. Milk is not of good "quality" which has large numbers of bacteria, even though it may have no visible sediment in the bottle and may have a satisfactory cream line.

Another class of bacteria which sometimes get into the milk are the form that are the seeds of typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, etc. Milk with even a few bacteria, if those few are of the contagious disease type, is certainly not of good "quality." A third type of bacterial contamination which causes milk to be of bad "quality," is tubercle bacilli which may be transmissible through the milk to human beings, especially infants. To sum up, "quality" in milk refers to a number of different conditions, any one of which being bad will render the milk of bad quality. Milk to be of good quality must have (1) a reasonable amount of food material (2), must be free from preservatives (3), must be free from visible insoluble dirt (4), must be free from soluble dirt (5), must have no seeds of contagious disease or tuberculosis (6), must not have excessive amounts of other forms of bacteria. The consuming public should understand that producing milk of good quality means additional expense on the part of the producer, and should willingly pay a price which will warrant securing a safe article.

Some Facts About the Cow.

The natural cow before domestication produced milk only about four months in the year, says C. D. Smead in the New York Tribune Farmer. Her food was always a succulent and milk-producing food, consequently she was producing in many cases a good flow of milk at the time her natural habit was to wean the calf. She could not of herself do this when the calf was all the time nursing her. Thus it was that Nature, true to herself, began secreting hausering elements in the milk, so the calf would only partly draw the milk from her udder, and the cow soon became dry. Now, that was the nature of the cow when man first took her in hand and weaned the calf or deaned it and became the milker himself. Although this change took place many centuries ago, we still see in the cow a tendency to secrete distasteful or bitter milk after she has been milked about four or five months, also a tendency to shrink in the flow of milk. But when a little extra feed is given, or a dose of physic to clean out the bowels, the cow seems to take on a new milk-producing habit, and will milk well for about four months longer. While some cows will go dry in spite of physic or good feed, other cows have been so strongly bred for milk production that the milk flow will keep up fairly well, but the milk, like that of your cow, will have a bitter, nauseous taste, and the butter will be hard to churn and will not be of good quality when it is made. Right here I desire to call attention of all cow owners to the fact that the cow in a state of nature rarely ever failed to produce a living, strong calf every year, but the 20th-century cow, that has been bred to milk 9, 10, 11 or 12 months in the year, in many cases either fails to breed after she has produced three, four or five calves, or else she aborts from being unable to produce three times the quantity of milk her ancestry did and carry a calf full time.

Manure from the barnyard adds humus to the soil; and humus acts like a sponge, retaining moisture in the soil, making it more capable of absorbing a heavy rainfall and of holding it there longer. The moral, therefore, is to save and carefully spread the barnyard manure over the fields. Manure is worth dollars, and will put dollars into the farmers' pockets.

Valuable Prescriptions

Published Every Winter and Are Welcomed by Thousands—
Clip Them Out.

Quickly Knocks Rheumatism.
This is recognized by doctors to be one of the most effective prescriptions obtainable to promptly cure rheumatism and back ache. "One ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound and one ounce of Toris compound. Add these to half a pint of good whiskey. Take a teaspoonful of this mixture before each meal and at bed time." Any druggist has these ingredients in stock or will quickly get them from his wholesale house. Any one can easily mix them. The good effects of this treatment are usually felt after the first few doses.

To Cure Indigestion.

A wonderful digestive mixture, which quickly relieves distress after eating, headaches, belching, sour stomach, dizziness, etc., and, if used for sufficient time, will completely cure the worst case of dyspepsia, is the following:

"Two ounces essence of Pepsin; three ounces syrup of Glacer; one ounce Catandir compound. These to be mixed in a six ounce bottle, shake well and use in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. The Catandir is a comparatively recent preparation and may not be kept in stock by some of the smaller druggists but he can get it very promptly from his wholesale house. This is surely worth trying by any one with stomach trouble. In hospital work it has been very successful."

Breaks a Cold in a Day.

Get from any druggist "Two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Mix these with half a pint of good whiskey. Take one or two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age." Any one can prepare this at home. This is the best formula known to science. There are many cheaper preparations of large quantity, but it don't pay to experiment with a bad cold. Be sure to get the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. If the druggist does not have it in stock he will get it quickly from his wholesale house.

DePAUW UNIVERSITY NOTES

SPELLING EXAMINATION

WAS A SUCCESS

OUT OF A TOTAL OF 346 STUDENTS TO TAKE TEST 63 MADE A PERFECT GRADE.

MANY FAILED TO PASS EXAM

That the spelling examination given to students of the English Composition Department was a success is the opinion which Professor N. Waring Barnes, the head of that department expressed yesterday.

Professor Barnes stated that he believed this because the results of that examination, despite the fact that many failed, showed that there was some good hard work done by a great many ordinarily poor spellers; and hence the examination was worth while.

There were 346 students who took the examination; 180 men, and 166 women. Sixty-three made 100 per cent.; 27 men, and 36 women. There was 172 who missed from one to five words; 78 men and 94 women. Fifty-eight missed from 6 to 10 words; 36 men and 22 women. Thirty-seven missed from 11 to 20 words; 20 men and 11 women. Thirteen missed from 21 to 40 words; 10 men and 3 women. Three men missed more than 40 words; one missed 44.

From these statistics it may be seen that not less than 53 and not more than 111 fell below the standard, which allowed freshmen to misspell 10 words and upperclassmen to misspell 5. These people will be given another examination about March 1, at which time the "C's" which they now have may be removed.

PHYSICS LAB IMPROVED

DURING VACATION THE WIRING FOR NEW MOTOR-GENERATOR WAS COMPLETED.

PROF. NAYLOR TO ADD EQUIPMENT

The wiring for the new motor-generator, recently set up in the Physics Laboratory, was completed during the vacation. The generator transforms the city alternating current to direct, and will be used for various experiments in both the Physics and Chemical laboratories.

The direct current will also be used to drive the lathe and other pieces of machinery in Professor Naylor's shop. A new motor has been installed, and from time to time Professor Naylor plans to add other pieces of machinery, so that his shop will soon be equipped for doing any work that may arise in connection with either of the science laboratories.

NOT ALL HAVE RESPONDED

Thus Far But 450 Students Have Made a Report on Hours They Study.

President McConnell reports that only 450 replies have been received in response to the postal recently sent to 650 students asking for the number of hours each course actually requires outside the classroom. About the same number of replies were received last year to the same query, and the President is of the opinion that only about this number are interested in such report. It is urged that every student, since the signature is not required to the report, tend to this matter at once. Unless all the students co-operate in securing the statistics the administration will be handicapped in arranging the courses to the best interest of all.

Marion Hedges, Bruce Kixmiller, Ivan Causey and Porter McCoy have returned this semester to the Phi Gam house and will again take up work in the school.

WORKERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

DR. TOWN REPORTS $150,000 NOW PLEDGED, AND FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT

SIX MEN ARE NOW IN FIELD

Signatures pledging more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars are the results of the work in the endowment campaign thus far in the year. There are many other bright prospects which have recently appeared and those working in the field feel by no means discouraged as to the final outcome of the fight.

In speaking of the results thus far, Dr. Town said: "We are carrying on a very quiet campaign, and are not at all pessimistic as to our final success. Last week was the first week that we were able to have six men all working in the field, and we feel well pleased with their efforts."

One or more of the six men who are assisting the University in the endowment work are busy in each of the three conferences of the state. Practically all of them have moved to Greencastle and have made arrangements to carry the fight through to the end. At present Dr. Wade, who has the campaign in charge, is in Chicago, and is investigating several favorable prospects which have recently shown themselves there.

URGES COUNCIL CHANGE

IN CHAPEL TALK PRES. MCCONNELL SHOWED ONE WEAKNESS IN OUR GOVERNING SYSTEM.

Dr. McConnell spoke at chapel just before recess of the need of a re-organization of the present method of selecting members to the Student Council. He said that the council can't be as effective as it ought to be with one faction, or about one-third of the student body, represented. "We cannot say the student council is really a representative body when one-third of the students is not represented," said the President.

This statement was made at this time in order that the students may have time to think the matter over with a view to formulating a new plan of electing the Student Council.

GREENCASTLE ONCE

HAD STREET CAR LINE

JUST AFTER CIVIL WAR A BUNCH OF HARDY CAPITALISTS BUILT LINE FOR STUDENTS.

LONG SINCE MADE IT'S DEMIES

Line Was Never Patronized by People Who Were in Haste, Irritable and in Poor Health Wasn't a Paying Proposition.

Did you ever notice the street car which is pictured as running in front of the Central National Bank on each of its checks? Did you ever notice the peculiar way in which the crossing stones cresset at the corner of Washington street and College Avenue? Then perhaps you didn't know that Greencastle once boasted a street railroad.

It was a horse-car line, however, and most of the time mules were used instead of horses.

Built at Close of War.

It was built shortly after the close of the Civil War and was run for about twenty years. The tracks from the Vandalla station, which was then situated on Depot street, near the Bloomington street crossing, to the old Big Four station, which was on Jackson street just north of the Monon. It ran north on Depot, to Bloomington; north-west on Bloomington to Seminary; west on Seminary to College Avenue; then north to Washington; west on that street to Jackson, and thence north again to the Big Four station.

In the early days, when the road was young and prosperous, two passenger cars, and one freight car were operated. But as the years went by, and only a single dividend (of three per cent.) was declared, such an amount of rolling stock was considered to be superfluous, and two-thirds of it went into retirement.

Not For Hurried People.

It is declared by those who remember that if a person was in a hurry, and was feeling particularly fit, then he might climb on this remaining car to ride; if he was in a good deal of a hurry he would get off or else not get on at all. It is also claimed that if it was muddy or raining or if the weather was other wise inclement, the car had a bewitching habit of jumping off the track about every hundred yards. This necessitated the emptying of the car until it could be pried back on. Some irritable persons would insist upon walking after the second or third hundred yards, no matter how cold the weather on how deep the snow and mud.

Ceased By Degrees.

It cannot be said just exactly when the line ceased operation. This is due to the fact that it went to pieces, not like the "One Horse Shay," but rather piece by piece, no one being able to say when there were enough pieces left to justify its being called a car line. It is safe to say, however, that it ceased operation about twenty-five years ago. Just recently some street workers dug up some of the rails which had been left, when the enterprise was finally abandoned.

Today the picture of the car on the checks, the misplaced crossing stones, and an occasional age yellowed ticket kept by some careful pioneer are the only visible traces of its existence.

FOOTBALL NOVELTIES

OLD STUDENTS ONCE CAST QUESTIONING EYES ON THE INFLATED RUBBER OVALS.

CALLED FORTH MUCH POETRY

Men of "this progressive age" who see things come and go with lightning speed, give them but a passing thought. While we catch a glimpse of a foot ball game today we see the players dressed in well padded suits and using a well made ball. We do not give a thought to the way the earlier players of the game were fitted out.

The DePauw Record, a weekly publication, of October 12, 1892, printed the following:

Making Rubber Footballs.

The game of football is now of such widespread interest that much pains are taken with the ball for college use.

It has an oval form, is made of fine rubber, with a pipe attachment for inflation, and is in turn incased in a stout cover, and laced. Such a ball is termed the "Rugby" and is made in one size, nine inches in diameter, and usually retails for about four dollars. As it is a piece of resistance in the contest, it is usually treated with care when idle, although its usage is not by any means of a tender character on the field.

The ball is carefully made of Para Rubber with a slight depression "at the poles," so to speak. The ball is in segments, usually six of them on the side, there being a cloth surface; and cemented together. At the poles is a circular cap of the same material, on which the maker, if disposed can inscribe his name, or as in case of the Hodgman Company, a handsome monogram. There is not a stitch in the ball and the workmanship is excellent.

The ball is inflated by means of a small tube called a key which fits into a cylindrical valve in the inside of the sphere. The chief point is to get strength with light weight, great objection being made by teams to a heavy ball, which rolls sluggishly over the ground.

At the time this was published footballs of rubber and leather combined were not in use. Theirs, ranging in size from six to eleven inches, were of black rubber and resemble the little balls we sometimes see used by children now.

At that time, when Chicago University occupied a space of 1300 by 800 feet and there were only seven colleges and universities publishing daily papers, there was more interest in athletics. Doctor Brown's ideals of grit and stamina were surely in sway then. The spirit toward the game was expressed by one DePauw student in this little verse:

"I want to die," the youth cried out;

"Things are not what they seem;
But I will not smoke a cigarette—
I'll join a football team."

The Latest.
"You claim to be a sailor?" sniffed the doubtful housewife.
"Yes mum," hastened Hornpipe Harry, as he took a reef in his trousers.

"But you don't make use of that nautical expression, 'Shiver my timbers'?"
"Oh, no, mum, I say 'Shiver my gaskag' or 'Shiver me wings.' I'm an airship sailor, mum."

Good Name.
"Fine scenery here," commented the guest at the mountain hotel.
"What do you call that great rock over there?"
"Castro," laughed the landlord.
"That's a queer name. And why do you call it Castro?"
"Because it is such a big bluff."

Long-Felt Want.
The count had been rejected.
"You may refuse me now," he hissed, "but I shall make myself felt."
The millionaire laughed.
"Make yourself felt, count?" he chuckled. "Why, in that case we might accept you. You'd make a good weather strip."

Slight Variation.
Mrs. A—When you were first married you used to call your husband "dear."
Mrs. Z—Yes, and now I call him "de-e-r."

Mrs. A—Gracious, and why?
Mrs. Z—Because he goes to so many stag parties.
Great Blessing.
Mrs. Green—The Browns on the third floor are up to date. They have a go-cart that can shut up.
Mr. Green—Oh, but the Smythes on the second floor have that beaten.
Mrs. Green—In what way?
Mr. Green—Why, they have a baby that can shut up.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.—take the advice received and be well.

NOTED "DRY" MAN TO SPEAK HERE

SENATOR SEABORN WRIGHT, OF GEORGIA, WILL GIVE ADDRESS HERE FEBRUARY 24, IN BEHALF OF THE TEMPERANCE QUESTION.

FIGHT GROWS WARMER

The option campaign fight in this county seems to grow warmer each day, that is the "drys" seem to put more enthusiasm in their fight. Another noted speaker has been procured by the temperance people of Greencastle to give an address here in behalf of the temperance side of the question. He is Senator Seaborn Wright of Georgia. Senator Wright is a brilliant speaker and is known over the entire east as a great temperance speaker. He will speak here on the night of February 24. The address probably will be given in the opera house. The temperance people state that they will have several other noted speakers here before the election, but who they are probably will not be made known for some time.

CRAWFORDSVILLE DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT APPOINTED

Rev. W. G. Leazenby, of South Bend, Will Succeed Rev. W. E. McKenzie, as Head of M. E. Church in Crawfordsville District.

Rev. U. G. Leazenby, pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church at South Bend, has been appointed to succeed Rev. W. E. McKenzie as superintendent of the Crawfordsville district of the M. E. church of Indiana. The appointment was announced Tuesday by Bishop Moore of Cincinnati. Rev. Leazenby, with his family, will come to Crawfordsville within the next few days to take up his residence here. Rev. McKenzie leaves within the same time for Indianapolis where he has been made secretary of the M. E. hospital.

Several names had been mentioned in connection with the appointment of a successor to Rev. McKenzie but it is believed that the selection of Rev. Leazenby will meet with general approval. He has been pastor of the Grace M. E. church at South Bend for the past two years and for the six years preceding that he held a charge in Terre Haute. Rev. Leazenby is about forty-five years of age and has a son who is a student in DePauw university.

The Crawfordsville district is one of the most important in the state, comprising many of the larger cities. It has thirty-five pastorates and seventy-five churches within its jurisdiction.

Rev. Leazenby is succeeded at South Bend by Rev. W. H. Hickman, who has been living on his farm near Pennville, Ind., for some time past and filling the pastorate in that place. Rev. Hickman is well known in Crawfordsville. —Crawfordsville Review.

James Browning has filed an affidavit in Squire Iddings court at Fillmore, charging William Hodge with assault and battery. Both men live near Broadpark.
